Gerflor Premium compact flooring proved the ideal flooring solution for the recovery bay inside the state-of-the-art day surgery centre at Wollongong Private Hospital. Interior Designers from Health Projects International chose the distinctive Poesy design to enhance the contemporary design appeal of the new facility.

“This is a private hospital and the flooring chosen reflects the distinct design intent our senior designers had for the facility,” HPI Interior Designer, Jenny Wang said.

“The flooring ticked all of the boxes in regard to slip ratings and all the clinical aspects. The design and colour is very calming and even the speckle in the flooring is soft. We paired it with the black aluminum trim to really drive away that clinical look. The feedback from the nurses has been really great. They like the feel of it,” Jenny said.

“Gerflor has really good colours, especially in this Premium range,” she added.

The Wollongong Private Hospital project by Health Projects International saw the first Australian installation of the Premium compact Poesy design that Gerflor’s Creative Director, Gino Venturelli launched in Australia late 2018. Since then the design has provided aesthetic and technical flooring solutions across a range of commercial projects.
